

Secondary Maths Department Improvement

The Education People have now been partnering with a number of secondary schools on supporting maths department improvement planning. This work provides detailed reviews from experts who are able to help provide ideas and prompts for maths provision improvement. Sustaining impact is really important and therefore the work that The Education People do is always to develop lasting relationships that seek to support lasting improvement. For example, one partnering school are working on a well-defined professional development programme over the year to develop consistency within their teaching and learning.

Please contact andrew.woods@theeducationpeople.org for more details.